Fare thee well cold winter and fare thee well cold frost, nothing have I gained but my own true love I've lost, I'll sing and I'll be merry, when occasion I do see, he's a false deluding young man, let him go farewell he.

The other night he brought me a fine diamond ring, but he thought to have deprived me for a far better thing, but I being careful like lovers ought to be,
he's a false deluding young man, let him go farewell he.

The quarter pund of reasons, and a half a pound of sense, a small sprig of time and as much of prudence, you mix them all together and you will plainly see, he's a false deluding young man, let him go farewell he.
